Besides type of construction, other building attributes are important (e.g., age, number of stories, quality of construction, etc). Here are some related maps of information for Manhattan.